To Everything There Is A Season,

*To everything there is a season,
and a time to every purpose under the heaven;
A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant,
and a time to pluck up that which has been planted;
A time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down,
and a time to build up;
A time to rend, and a time to sew; a time to keep silence,
and a time to speak;
A time to love, and a time to hate; a time of war,
and a time of peace.*

— Ecclesiastes 3:1-3,7,8

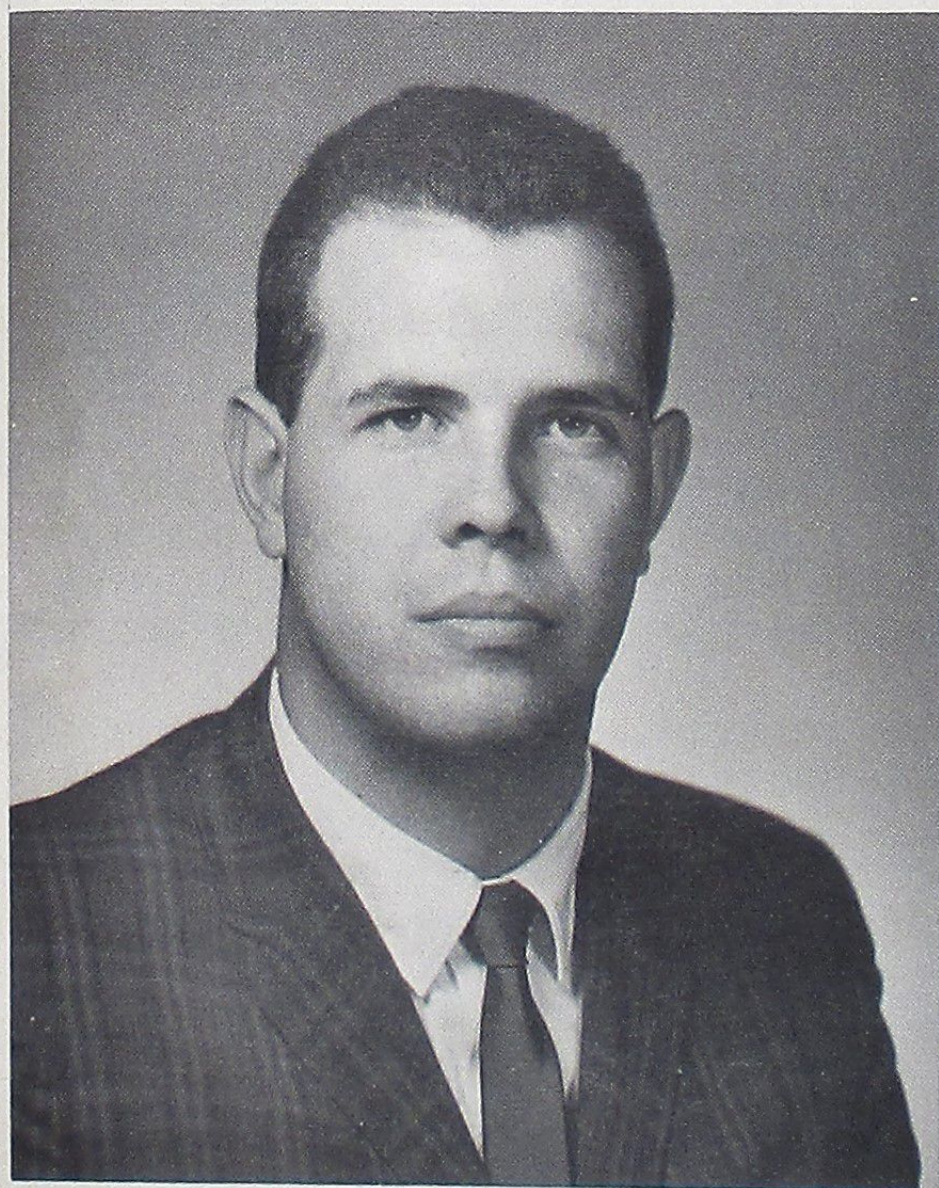

Our high school careers can be likened to the changing seasons. As freshmen, our intellects were lying dormant, like the fields which lie fallow in winter. In the spring, our sophomore year, we began to awake to the vast possibilities which were in store for us, just as the plants and animals show the first signs of life after a long, barren winter. We came into full bloom as juniors, in the summer of careers, and we seem to have reached fulfillment in this, our senior year.

But as we are graduated from high school and venture out into the world of college, commerce, and professions, we will again experience the passage of the seasons with each new encounter. Our minds will lay fallow to new knowledge, we will awake to new endeavors, we will mature in our understandings, and, in satisfaction, we will reap our harvests.

And A Time To Every Purpose...

To Mr. David A. Wilson...

*The class of 1966
proudly dedicates the MOHAWK
to Mr. David A. Wilson:
a devoted teacher,
an enthusiastic coach,
and a faithful friend.
Since his arrival
at Millis High School
Mr. Wilson, as a teacher, has inspired us
to strive for success
and has encouraged us
to employ our minds
to their fullest capacities;
as a coach
he has exemplified strong character
and sportsmanship;
and as a friend,
he has instilled in us
the ideals of patience and honesty and has enthusiastically supported our endeavors.
It is with deep respect and sincere appreciation that we,
the Class of 1966,
extending to him our best wishes
for future years,
dedicate our yearbook
to Mr. Wilson:
teacher, coach and friend.*

... Grueling Year

Advisers Mr. Leo J. Dugas, Mrs. Mary K. Gavin, Mrs. Jane Robison

The responsibility of every yearbook staff is to produce a book meaningful to all the members of the class. Realizing what a momentous task this is, the Mohawk Staff, at first, was overwhelmed, for the Class of 1966 is one of many and varied personalities. A second challenge was the selection of only the best material from a vast supply.

Knowing that a yearbook cannot be created by one person, the four staffs and two editors, with the invaluable guidance of advisers Mrs. Gavin, Mrs. Robison, and Mr. Dugas, have worked in cooperation with one another, as well as independently.

The Mohawk Staff has endeavored to carry the theme throughout while creating a book of significant and poignant memories; the members of the Class of 1966 will carry these with them as they venture forth into a new Changing Season.

MILLIS JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL
MILLIS, MASSACHUSETTS

WILLIAM A. VELLANTE
PRINCIPAL

June, 1966

To The Class of 1966:

Your education can be likened to a body of water which may have as its source, a trickling from a mountain. As the flow of water progresses into a stream, it has its deep pools, shallow waters, rapids, and waterfalls. Currents converge on the mainstream which eventually develops into a river leading to the ocean.

Your education is still incomplete. You started at an early age. At times you have demonstrated depth and potentiality, while at other times, your thinking may have been shallow. Your growth has been rapid in recent years, and you will be called upon to meet challenges which may alter your course in life.

As you enter the mainstream, you will find that life can be colorful and exciting, and that good deeds, good intentions, and warm feelings can be powerful forces. You will learn that you must be independent and optimistic regardless of what may occur.

When you arrive at the delta, keep an open mind because the future of our society depends upon your tolerance and vision.

Sincerely yours,

William A. Vellante

Home South Central Championship

Certainly, a squad which scored 228 points in one season, while allowing its opponents to score only 18 points, must possess both superb team spirit and an indomitable will-to-win.

To the pride of Coaches Nelson, Wilson and Lombardi, the Mohawks earned a new title with this record: Champs of the South-Central League.

The Ten Little Indians

Their last year for M. H. S.

CHEERLEADERS

The credit for a successful football season naturally belongs to the players, but the part played by the Mohawk Cheerleaders who stood on the sidelines encouraging the boys on to victory should not be underestimated.

Under the leadership of two great co-captains, Pam Bartlett and Frannie Powell, the girls performed with much exuberance and vigor.

Though sometimes muscles were pulled and ankles were sprained, the ten little Indians were at every game, enthusiastically rooting for the best team.

Captain Pelletier and Coach Peterson

Hard Work, Cold

Under the guidance of Miss Peterson the girls' field hockey team battled beneath cold autumnal skies. This sport, in its third year at Millis High found its support mainly among the seniors, led by Captain Pelletier. Learning the fundamental skills of the game was finally achieved after many long and grueling practices. However, the team did not bring home many triumphal banners, although the margins of defeat were narrow. During these hotly-contested battles the girls were always high-spirited, vigorous competitors and good sports.

M.H.S. Chorus

Chorus and Orchestra

Each year membership in the Millis High School Chorus and Millis High School Orchestra grows. But of more importance, the quality of the music they perform grows too. This year the Chorus is built around and augmented by outstanding voices from the school Madrigal Society, a small group that performs more challenging numbers. The choral and orchestral organizations, under the direction of Mr. Thurlow, participate in various school functions throughout the year as well as in the annual Spring Concert. Since several musicians from our chorus and orchestra have also performed in the Central District, All-State, and All-Eastern Concerts, it is evident that participation in high school groups offers many advantages for those who have musical talent.

Band and Twirlers

Again, the Millis High School Band, under the direction of Mr. Frank Gubala, was a tremendous asset to our school. In the fall it enlivened half-time at our football games, demonstrating the fruitful results of long, grueling hours of practice.

An innovation this year was a twirling group, which made its debut at the Thanksgiving Day game. Sue Senatroy and Debby Correa deserve much credit for giving direction and encouragement to this junior-high group. The band participated in various assemblies during the school year, but it reached its peak in the marvelous performance it gave at the Spring Concert. No evening at "Pops" ever afforded its patrons more pleasure than was provided by our Millis musicians in their stimulating rendition of Leroy Anderson's Typewriter and the Highlights from My Fair Lady.

Council Seeks Student-Faculty Confidence

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council represents an attempt on the part of the students to take an active interest in the functioning of the school, and to play an important role in its government. This year's council was successful, among other things, in having an amendment passed which provides for the election of three representatives per class. By selling M.H.S. bookcovers and by supplying avid football fans with steaming coffee and doughnuts, sufficient funds were raised to continue the Student Council Scholarship, which has been awarded annually at graduation since 1960.

Sparked by Co-captains Janis Carter and Karen Pelletier, the girls' basketball team plunged into its league competition. Fouling out of a game is always a fear in basketball and the members of this team were even more conscious of this possibility because of their lack of height and the small number of substitutes. In spite of these difficulties, the girls defeated Medfield and Nipmuc, both top-ranking opponents whose losses to Millis cost them the league championship. Although there were deficiencies in the make-up of the team, the squad was both high in scoring and in team spirit.

"Pam, jump, don't split!!"

During the basketball season the cheerleaders continued to encourage the school spirit they had initiated in the football season. The girls gave the team very important support and let the boys know that it does matter how the game is played and not necessarily who the victor is. Continued enthusiasm over M. H. S. basketball seems probable when the cheerleaders do their job so effectively.

SCIENCE FAIR

The Science Fair, an annual event in our school calendar, is stimulating and sometimes awesome. Under the direction of Mr. Dowd, time-consuming preparations were completed and an enthusiastic crowd of townspeople viewed the projects created by the junior and senior high school students. Those judged the best were exhibited at the regional fair at Brandeis University and went on to represent Millis at the state fair at M. I. T.

Our science-minded students gain valuable knowledge and experience from their participation in science fairs, since it gives them an opportunity to engage in individual research.

N.H.S. Membership Continues to Grow

At a solemn and inspiring assembly on April 14, 1966, one member of the Senior Class and nine members of the Junior Class were inducted into the National Honor Society. The eleventh inductee, Sophomore Nancy Batchelder, received this honor under the National Provisional Membership Program. On this memorable occasion the Honorable John Quinlan, State Senator from our district, spoke on the strength, continuity, and morality of nations, and pointed out that the qualities for which these students were chosen — Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service — are the foundations of our society. That evening, all members of the society and their adviser, Mrs. Welch, were honored guests at a dinner given by the Millis P.T.A.

The eleventh annual P. T. A. The traditional procession of court members was followed by the crowning of the 1966 King and Queen, Joel Howie and Frannie Powell, by 1965's reigning pair, Fred Heustis and Pat McLaughlin. After the introduction of court members by the Master of Ceremonies, Mr. John St. Cyr, gifts were presented to the royal couple by our principal, Mr. William Vellante. JUNIOR PROM

The class of 1966 is not only talented, handsome, athletic and witty, as shown throughout the other pages of this yearbook, but also adventurous and courageous enough to try something new. On May 21, 1965, the class asserted its originality by holding its Junior Prom at The Meadows in Framingham. The event was most successful from the first strains of Nat Walsh's heavenly music to the last delicious morsel of beef. The theme was most appropriate; those who attended will remember that night "Longer than Always."

JV Team Brings Increased Interest

In the spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of baseball. So it was at Millis High School this year. Even though the record was not outstanding, our boys were imbued with team spirit, good sportsmanship, strong motivation and unending endurance. Under the capable direction of Coach Wilson, the boys squeezed four victories out of their fourteen games. Thanks to Mr. Flanagan, the junior varsity team came up with quite an impressive record, including a victory over the girls' softball team.

SOFTBALL

Every year the softball field abounds with girls, practicing hard, striving to earn a position on the team, and the task of choosing the best players is indeed difficult. Certainly this year has been no exception, for there was both quality and quantity.

Under the leadership of its able captain, Karen Pelletier, and the untiring efforts of Coach Peterson, the squad worked diligently throughout the season and chalked up an impressive record of five victories in seven contests.

TRACK

"Practice for perfection!" This was the watch-word preached daily by the coach of this year's track team, Mr. Niles Nelson. The team worked out for three weeks before their first meet, and their efforts were well rewarded. They not only had first-place winners, as they did last year, but also second- and third-place winners and accumulated as many as ninety-seven points in one meet. They reached their goal when they became the League Champions on May 24th, and further honors were achieved when two team members later placed in the state meet, class E.

Going Somewhere?

Mr. Patrick H. Rafterty,
Freshman Class
Adviser

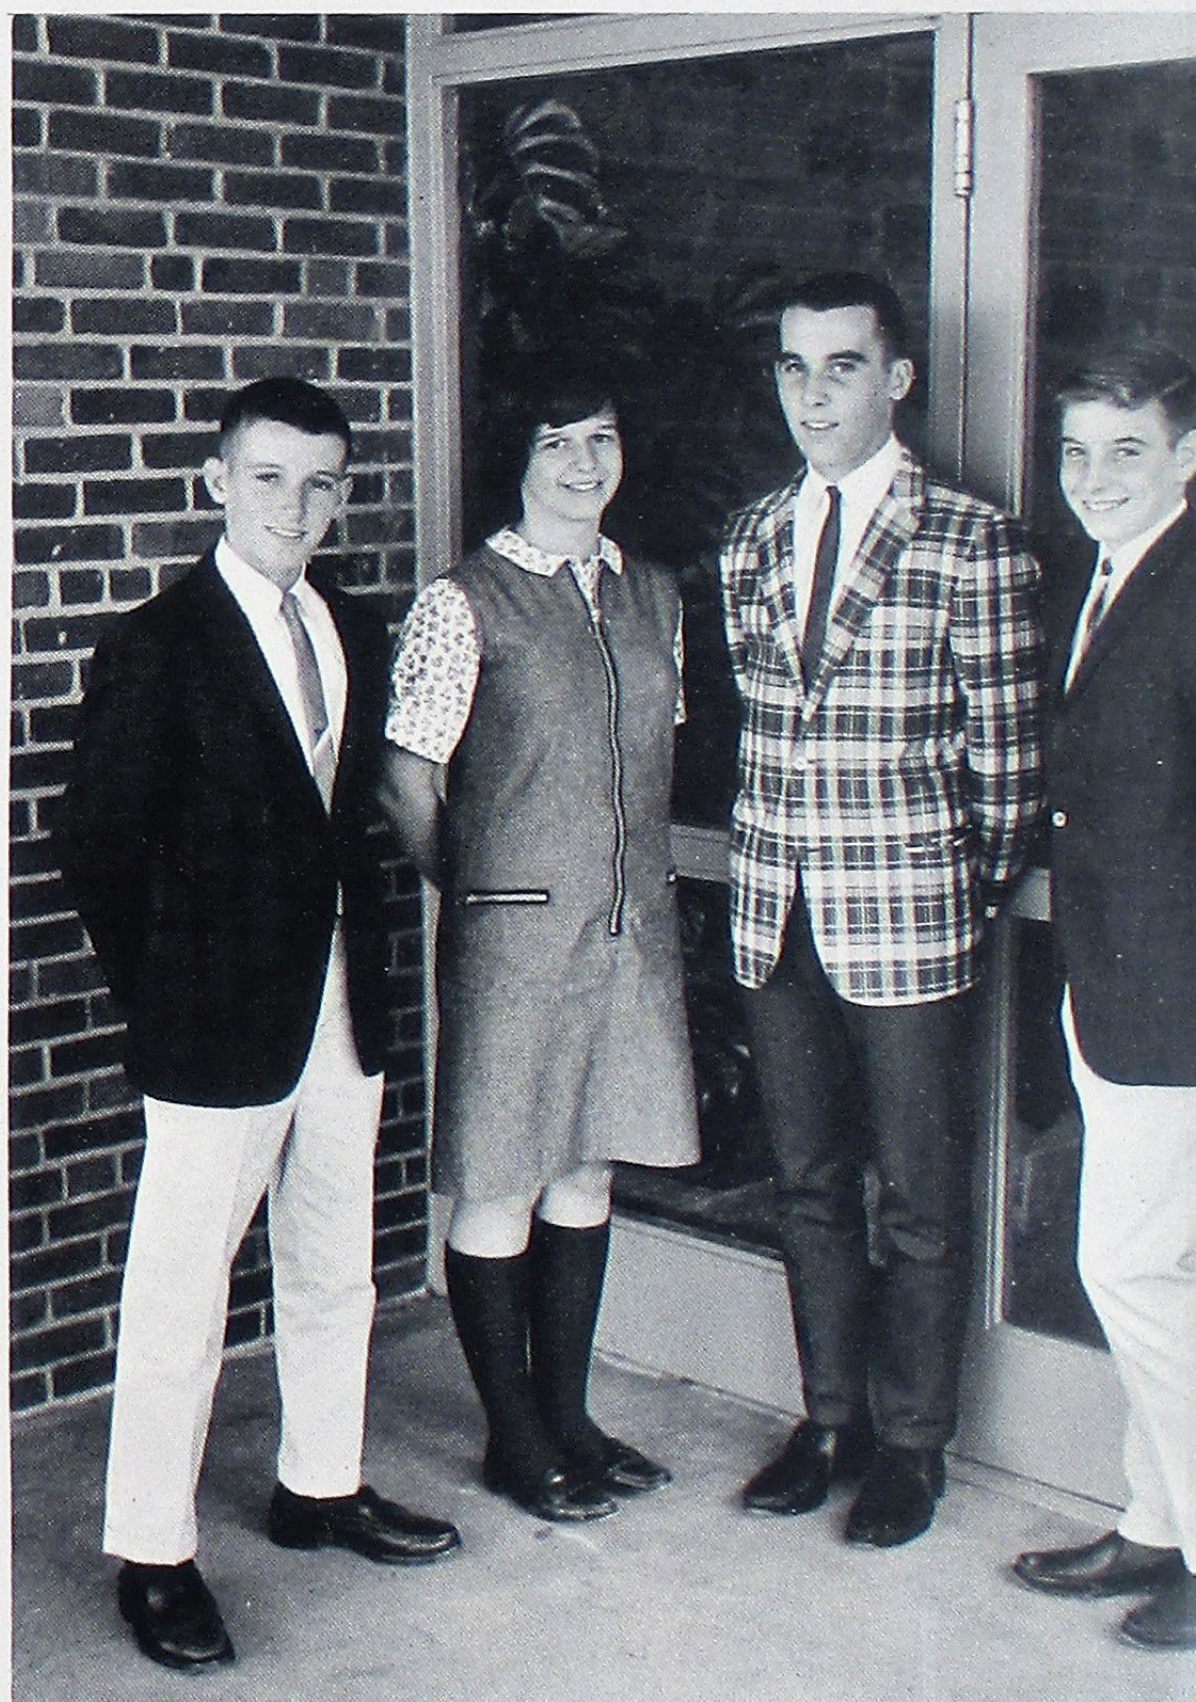

"Our First Year"

In June of Sixty-six,
At the close of our first year,
We leave with many memories
But with nary a tear.

In just a few short days
We'll be Freshmen no more.
And when school reopens
We'll be called Sophomore.

We surely have accomplished
What we set out to do.
Learned Algebra, Civics—
Got in trouble, too.

And when former teachers
Remember us and smile,
They'll know the Frosh of "66"
Have finished that first mile.
—Dennis Gillespie

"We've got the potential."

S is for the studying we did for many hours;
O is for those "oral contributions" of ours;
P is for the pushes teachers gave us all the while;
H is for the homework we completed with a smile;
O is for the obstacles we faced and overcame;
M is for mistakes we made which helped us just the same;
O is for "over," for our sophomore year is done;
R is for remembrances of worries and of fun;
E is for the eagerness which guided us through school;
Together they spell "sophomore"—the wise but happy fool.

Our Junior year at Millis High
Now mingles with the past;
And days we thought would never end
Are finally here at last.

Homework, sports, detention days,
Classmates, teachers, too—
From such as these are memories made
That last a lifetime through.

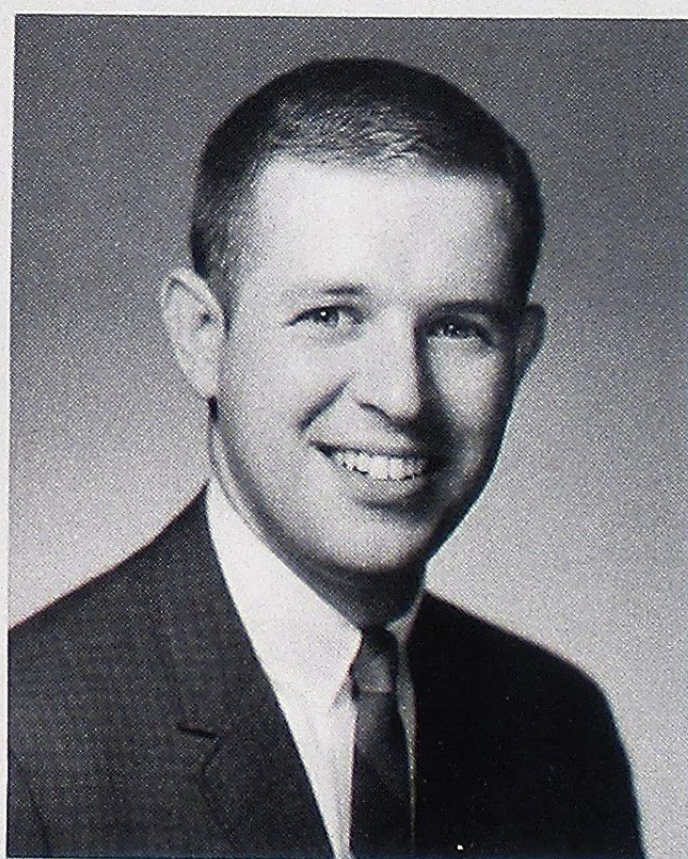

We thought we would be happy, but
We find it is not so.
Our Junior year was so much fun;
How fast it seemed to go.

In time to come, as we look back,
The days we'll hold most dear
Are days we spent at M. H. S.
In this, our Junior year.

The History of the Class of 1966

The history of the Class of 1966 began thirteen years ago when we, who are now alumni of Millis High School, entered kindergarten as reluctant martyrs about to be thrown into the lions' den of schooling. The year began with one teacher and amazingly finished with the same one. Although kindergarten was only a half-day affair, it was a new and perhaps exhausting experience for a group of children whose customary occupation was chasing ice cream trucks around the block.

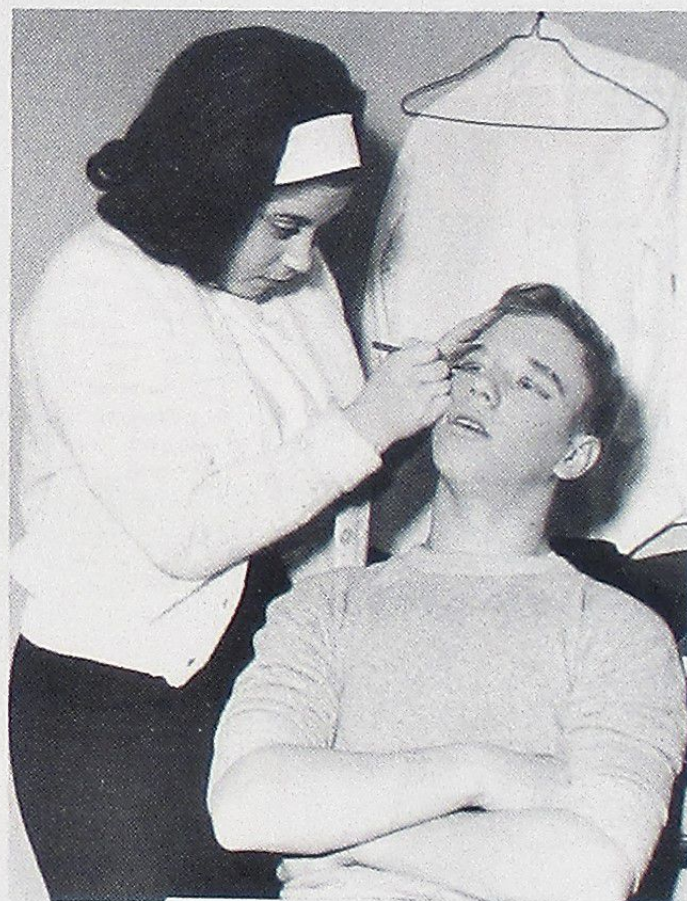

First grade, of course, was the next step in our school career. To honor this milestone, so we thought, we were moved into the newly built Clyde F. Brown School. When we reached second grade, we conquered it with the same zeal and confidence as in grade one, only this time our overseers rewarded our perseverance with an outing. As with all elementary school field trips, we toured the nearest zoo.

After having questionably mastered long division in the third grade, we entered fourth grade, finding ourselves the oldest students in the building. We thus became the king-pins of the cafeteria milk and ice cream concessions. Lunch that year was really very different. We ate our government surplus hot-dogs in a unique nightclub setting. As we relished each tasty morsel, a talented new star from the third grade "sang", "Where can my little dog be." Perhaps some of us were disappointed by the Christmas program that year, but most of us enjoyed watching "The Littlest Angel" three times backwards, with no sound.

Moving ahead another year, our class met with disaster. Recess and gym were abolished, and in their place we had a homeroom period in which class officers were elected. Although the system was supposed to be democratic, Roger Smith somehow managed to get himself elected president almost forty weeks in a row.

Sixth grade was a milestone for organized labor. The local union in Mrs. Blom's room, led by the piano-top orations of Greg Terrio, went on strike. The spectacle was matched only when Tom White crawled out of a second-story window. The popular weapon of the local guerillas was a rubber band and a box of paper clips. A lot of sunlight leaked through the shades and Terry Lyons learned that a paper clip in the eye hurts. Near the end of the year we learned that the roller coaster ride at The Cinerama scared more than the Brownie troop that sat behind us.

The Class of 1966 entered seventh grade in a school nearly fifty years old and finished the year in a brand new building. The new school offered many mysteries to be explored, and Tucky Bates, to his sorrow, discovered that dragging his shoe heel would leave black rubber marks on the floors. The music teacher found seven toads in his class, thanks to Bob Rogers; and the girls were amazed to learn that they now had to cook on real stoves.

The next year continued in the same manner. Some of Mr. Gilfoy's art students began throwing dried beans instead of making collages. Eighth grade was highlighted by the Junior High School Field Day. Charley Kirmelewicz lost the day for 8-C when he cheated, using his thumb to keep a potato on a spoon. 8-A went on to win, but the victory was somewhat tarnished by the claims of 8-C that the 8-A girls were responsible for the victory.

Then, in September of 1961, our class began a four-year career of fun and games, commonly known as high school. Although as freshmen we were reduced to such indignities as the poorest seats in the auditorium and being the last to leave for lunch, we held our own. Freshman initiation was taken all in stride and many sophomores became quite upset when we wouldn't carry their books. Our ability for organizing and running dances was questioned after our Sadie Hawkins Dance. It seems some of the females thought a penny an inch was too much. Before the year was over, we also found out that Mr. Damon would prefer that we knew the Pledge of Allegiance rather than fake it.

Tenth grade came and it was our turn to initiate. True to course, the dance which followed was a failure. Judging from the number of dropouts from Latin I, the language must be really dead. The boys' j.v. basketball team went down almost undefeated. Records on the girls' team can't be found. At the end of the year, high school was half over, the point of no return, and a couple took these words literally.

In 1964 the Beatles made millions with their hair, and the juniors were in trouble for theirs. Tucky Bates and Bob Rogers solved the problem in a most unconventional way; they cut off all of theirs. The prom was at The Meadows and all went well until our theme sign fell down. The electronics class couldn't decide whether or not a Ford could beat a Chevy until an English teacher with a beat-up Porsche solved it all. In the end top honors went to Cliff Burnett's dump truck. The year ended nicely when some thoughtful person painted in a crosswalk for people entering school by way of the bandstand.

Our last and biggest year finally came. The season started out well when the football team won the league championship. The feat included the downfall of our friendly neighbor to the east, Medfield. Being champions didn't go to our heads, but went to the floor at Kuendig's victory party. Some of us saw fit to attend the Junior Prom at Glen Ellen. The next day at Horseneck Beach, fun was had by one and all. Our last year has been very profitable, marred only by the police speed trap on Spring Street. Except for this, our last year and the twelve before it have held many experiences and exciting incidents which have made our thirteen years extremely interesting. High school is now over and our next target is the world.

"BLUE HAWAII"

The strains of "Blue Hawaii" welcomed all those who attended the Millis Junior Prom and Senior Reception held at Glen Ellen Country Club on May 20. Happy couples waltzed beneath the wavering palm trees to the melodious tunes of George Graham and his Orchestra. Memories of this evening will certainly linger in years to come.

CLASS TRIP

We congregated early, if not bright, to board the busses, officially starting our Senior Trip. On our arrival at Jug End, we began a mad scramble to try each of the many activities offered. The main attractions were the swimming pool, riding stables, golf course, and above all, the sauna bath. Rain in the afternoon failed to dampen our spirits, and we assembled at the Rec. Hall for free music and not so free hot dogs and hamburgers. The highlight of the evening was the meal—the first of many chicken dinners that week.

CLASS BANQUET

Sandy's Restaurant in Plainville was the scene of the Senior Class Banquet this year. After almost going to Sandy's Discount Center, we arrived en force and proceeded to take over the downstairs hall. Amidst loud laughter and friendly chatter, another chicken dinner was served. Concluding the evening's program, exhortations were delivered by Dr. Roy and Mr. Vellante and a class gift was presented to Mrs. Gavin, our Class Adviser.

CLASS DAY

The day before Graduation finally arrived and the Seniors, arrayed in caps and gowns, formed an archway for the underclassmen to begin the traditional Class Day Exercises. As the Seniors, in turn, marched into the auditorium, they realized that this was their Class Day, the ceremony that marked the end of their days as students of Millis High School.

Our Day Will Come!

It's Been Twelve Years

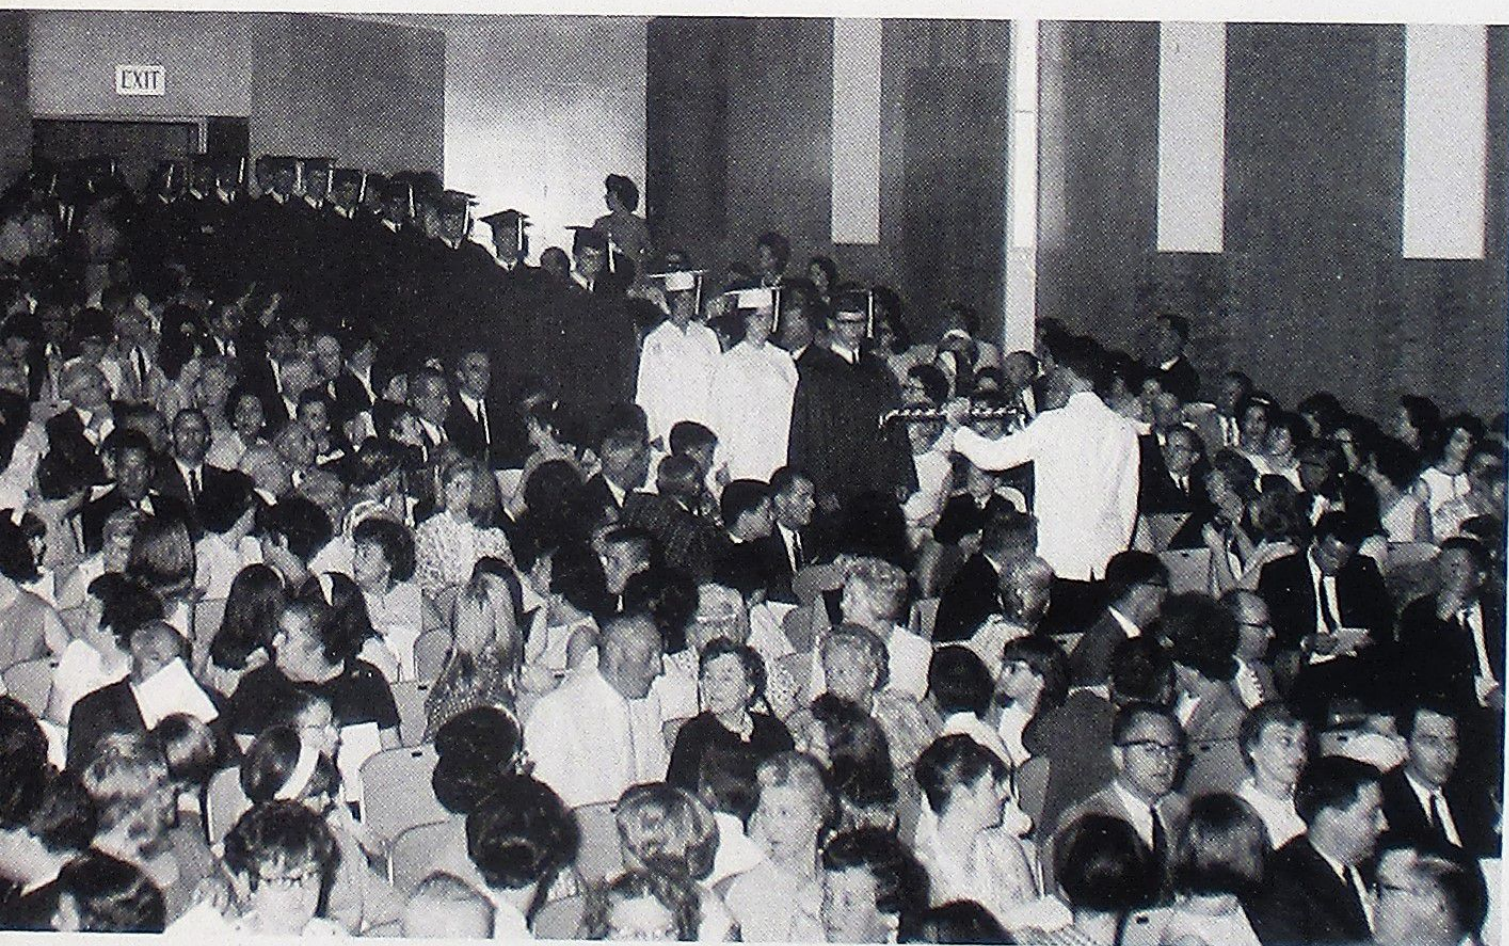

Valedictorian—Rosemary Weinstein

Pomp and Circumstance

June 9, 1966 was the climax of our high school careers. We have survived the rigors of thirteen years of study, and now feel relatively qualified to venture into the wide world of the unknown. We shall work to realize our potential, and we hope to reap a bountiful harvest as mature and responsible citizens. The future is ours.

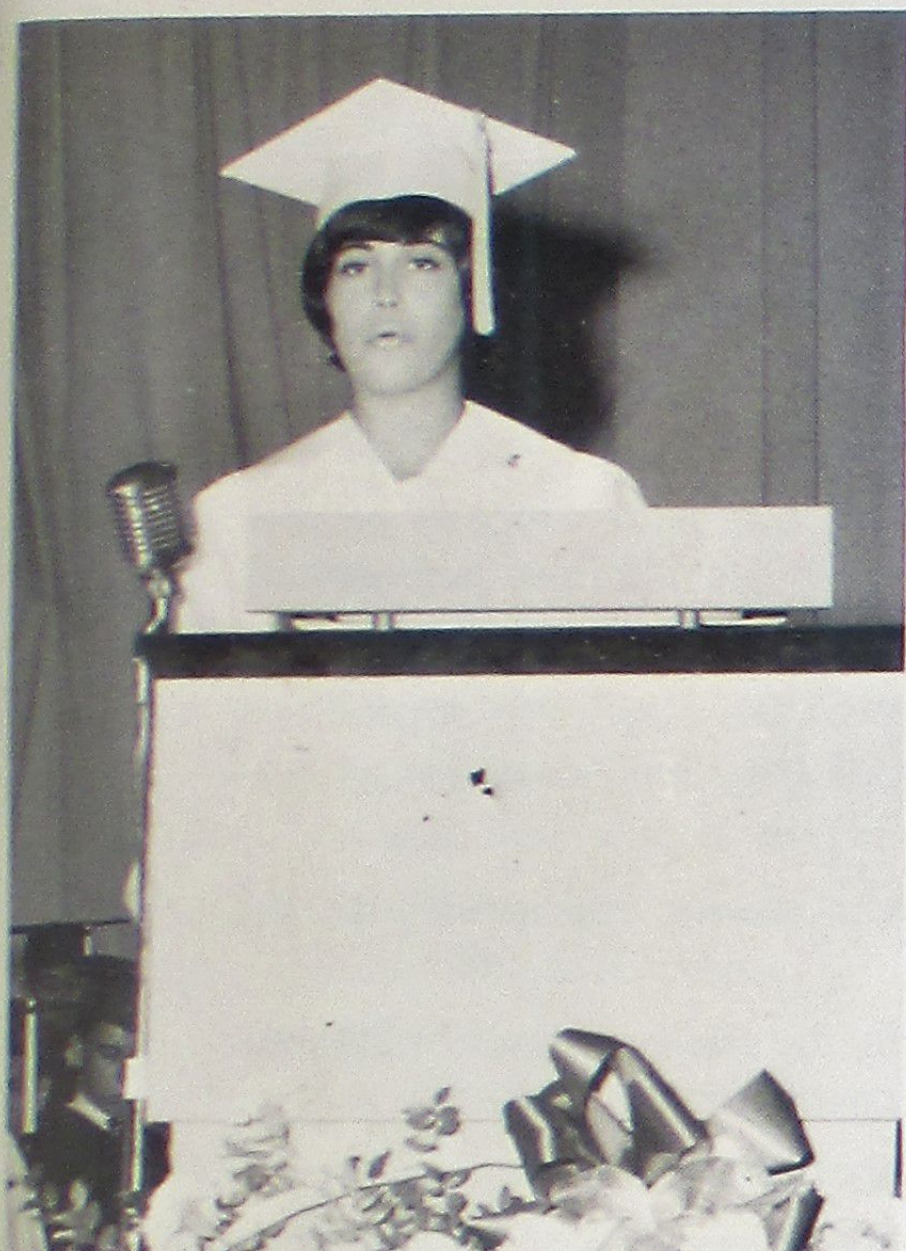

When the saints come marching in...

Sober Faces

The Will of the Class

We, the Class of One thousand, nine hundred and sixty-six, being of rather doubtful but comparatively sane mind, do hereby make, publish, declare, and hand down to posterity this Last Will and Testament, thereby making all wills previously issued by us void.

To Mr. Vellante we leave our heartfelt thanks for the aid he has given us throughout our high school years.

To Mr. Doyle we leave our gratitude for the kindness and friendliness he has displayed toward us each and every day.

To the Millis School Committee and to Dr. Roy, our superintendent, we leave our appreciation for all they have done for us during the past four years.

To Mr. Damon the senior girls leave a plaque engraved with the Nineteenth Amendment.

To Miss Peterson we leave an enormous pile of ragged gym suits and a free pass to next year's carnival.

To Miss Bannon we leave a peaceful homeroom.

To Mr. and Mrs. Wilson we leave fond memories of an enjoyable and an eventful class trip.

To Mr. Turley and to Mr. Stearns we leave a box of tranquilizers for future driver education classes.

To Miss Strathern we leave a quiet library and all overdue books.

To Mr. Morrison and to Mrs. Vogt we leave next year's baffled seniors.

To Miss Conway we leave one Math IV student.

To Mr. Dugas we leave 11 A's so that he can give them out more easily to next year's French IV class.

To Mrs. Welch we leave future National Honor Society meetings and a sign which reads "Enunciate Please."

To Mrs. Gavin we leave our gratitude and a stepladder.

To Mr. Dowd we leave our collection of squirt guns.

To Mr. Nelson we leave our congratulations on having coached a very successful year of athletics.

To the Cafeteria we leave 17,366 fish puffs.

To the Faculty we leave many apologies, additional serenity and considerably less trouble.

To Next Year's Seniors we leave our hopes and best wishes for their success throughout the coming year.

Mike Healy, class comic, leaves his great sense of humor to anyone who dares to accept it.

Marilyn Cope and Joel Warsof leave their gift of gab to Sharon Kelley and Tom McDonough.

Regina Walker leaves her fashionable clothes to any underclassman who believes she can wear them as well as GIGI did.

Bob Rogers leaves fond memories of shaven heads to Stephen Howie.

Kathy Breen leaves the leading role in the Senior Play to her sister Janet.

Brian Fitzgibbons and Roger Smith leave a new French Literature Book to next year's French class.

Jay Monaghan and Joel Howie leave a very successful football season and best wishes to Tom Connors and Rusty Cushman.

Rachel Smith, our treasurer, leaves all unpaid bills and a red pencil to Shelley Brodeur.

Linda Levy, Taffy Rothwell, Terry Lyons, and Marcia Bucchianeri, as usual, leave fourth-hour gym class.

Judi Riordan leaves her Senior play costume to anyone who has the nerve to wear it.

Cliff Burnett leaves a police badge and a whistle to Mr. Wilson for future corridor and lunchroom duties.

Bruce Joyce, John Kaminski, and Bob Lemieux leave with the hope of growing taller.

Linda Pratt leaves for New Mexico.

Jim McDonough leaves his parties to posterity.

Penny Preston leaves Bob Saleda 21 credits.

Ed Lewandowski leaves in his truck.

Patti McGann leaves her Volkswagen to Gordon Browne.

Danny McLean leaves Ken King his Monday night visits to a certain teacher's house.

Mary Ellen Gately leaves her memories of yearbook deadlines to next year's Mohawk Staff.

Richard Braun and Charlie Kirmelewicz leave their strength and ability to next year's track team.

Bob Weatherhead leaves painful memories of graduation rehearsals.

Linda Bigelow leaves Home Ec. Class still hungry.

Bob Dmytryck leaves his collection of tardy slips to Paul White.

Susan Desilets leaves her compliments to Jug End.

The Will of the Class

Tom White leaves, searching for fun.

Cheryl Anderson leaves, hoping to make a visit to Venezuela.

Margaret Clancy leaves 7 kittens to Mr. Flanagan.

Mary Palashewski leaves her variety of hair styles to Jean Mandell.

Alan Carruth leaves his understanding of mathematics to future students.

Paul Starkis leaves with his briefcase.

Mady Weinstein leaves a "Kiss me, I'm Irish" button and a box of lucky charms to Mr. Flanagan.

Fran Powell leaves her queen's crown to any Junior Girl who has enough money to get it out of hock.

Helen Dmytryck leaves again for Milford.

Este Nirenberg gladly leaves her physical science class. It was a long year!

Nancy Webber leaves her bottle of suntan lotion to Mary Mann.
Warning: Excessive use results in orange skin.

Ron Morgan leaves his title of Teachers' Pest to Bill Geyer.

Pam Bartlett leaves her best wishes to next year's cheerleaders.

Kevin Cushman leaves the notorious Cushman title of Class Flirt to his brother Keith.

Pat Rhyne leaves a succession of brothers and sisters to torment Miss Strathern.

Betsy Lee leaves her accent to her brother Bill.

Now that Bert Lannon is graduating, he takes leave of Mr. Flanagan's car.

Carol Broussard leaves chemistry class in a hurry.

Gene Correa, as usual, leaves school on the day of a test.

Bonnie Proe leaves her vast knowledge and understanding of U.S. History to next year's seniors.

Valli Spafford and Shirley Green leave an enormous pile of broken fingernails to Miss Mozykowski.

Bill Merrill leaves his Honda to Clyde Todd.

Greg Terrio leaves to go hunting.

Ted Taraski leaves, asking for a bottle of Orange Crush.

Diana Thorne leaves her good manners to posterity.

Mike Kirby loudly leaves the school.

Janis Carter leaves her sprained thumbs to Jan Krohn.

Ruth Harcovitz leaves her ability to waste class time to Debbie O'Brien.

Karen Pelletier leaves her outstanding athletic ability to Maureen Aalto.

Judy Noyes leaves her condolences to next year's Class Prophecy writer.

Dave Thorne leaves his talent as a songwriter to next year's Senior Class.

Mary Champagne leaves her excellent attendance record, at home, to her brother Warren.

Norm Pembroke finally leaves Mr. Nelson's algebra class.

Meredyth March leaves again.

Peter MacFarland leaves his best wishes and all responsibilities as President of the Student Body to future presidents.

Bill O'Donnell leaves, telling a joke.

Joe Hersey leaves next year's orchestra with a certain amount of tranquility.

Larry McCarter, Dave Thibault and Al Symans leave quietly.

Mary Theresa Duhamel leaves—but not quietly.

Judy Kuhlman leaves her brother to Jill Wildman.

Margo Kelley leaves a night to remember to Al Fraser and John Welch.

Laura Saunders leaves 160 blushes to Steve Young.

Betty Foley leaves her artistic ability to next year's Mohawk Staff.

Don Dulevskis and Al Wilson finally leave their English term papers.

Herb Godfrey, Bill Pearson and Dick Elwinger leave quickly.

Bill Mercer leaves a supply of patch-pocket pants to be evenly divided among next year's senior boys.

Tuck Bates leaves baseball for track.

In conclusion, we pray that no one herein mentioned will take offense but will receive the aforementioned in the manner in which it was given. We also hope that any slight dissatisfaction will be settled among our heirs in a peaceful manner.

In testimony whereof, given under this, our hand and seal, on the eighth day of June in the year of our Lord, One thousand, nine-hundred and sixty-six, we, the Class of 1966, declare this to be our Last Will and Testament.

Signed: The Class of 1966
Witnessed: Nancy Webber

The Prophecy of the Class

It was the year 1986, in the height of the space race, when the Class of 1966 had its twentieth reunion. The Millis High reunion was not an ordinary one. Because of the high attainments of the Millis graduates, the members of the Class of 1966 were chosen to be the first colonists on Planet-X. The pilot of the plane, Wrong-Way Weatherhead, was ably assisted by Danny McLean, Mike Healy, and Cliff Burnett of the dump truck brigade. These four men flew the first trip to the moon and crash-landed on Venus while all four were watching the Miss U.S.A. Contest, which was won by Regina Walker whose impersonation of Peter Pan baffled judges and playboys Ronny Morgan, Joe Howie, and Mike Kirby.

Pro-football players Jay Monaghan, Kevin Cushman, and Gene Correa were chosen as colonists because of their outstanding feat of making four touchdowns for the other team and thereby winning the Nobel Peace Prize. During the football game, cheerleaders Pam Bartlett, Margo Kelley, and Franny Powell received a standing ovation for their splendid somersaults and splits. In baseball, ace hurlers Brian Fitzgibbons and Mike Nix have done a tremendous job for the Red Sox who have succeeded in capturing the pennant. In basketball, there is Tucky Bates, Millis' answer to Bill Russell, and in track, there is Charles Kirmelewicz, Millis dasher who is anxious to try his running on Planet-X. In girls' sports, Karen Pelletier, Jan Carter, and Nancy Webber, American delegates to the Olympics, electrified the world by blowing out the Olympic torch.

In business, also, Millis graduates have made their mark. A year ago, the business tycoons of the world met at the home of Peter MacFarland, the genius behind the Herman Shoe. During the entire meeting, representative of the gravel industry, Sandman Jimmy McDonough, and representative of the swingers' clubs, Bob Rogers, sat munching candy bars. Stylists Mary Champagne and Pat Rhyne showed their design for a standardized uniform for lady teachers consisting of a halter top and a pair of leopard-skin, bell-bottomed trousers modeled by teachers Mary Ellen Gately, Meredyth March, and Rachel Smith. Meanwhile, dressmakers Helen Dmytryck and Mary Palashewski gasped in horror, and Billy Mercer, famous manufacturer of Levi pants, fainted on the floor.

In the fields of music and acting, Millis alumni have made exceptional contributions. Ruth Harcovitz, famous opera singer, has sung at carnivals throughout the country accompanied by Marcia Bucchianeri, the Millis Jack Benny of the violin. Judy Riordan also toured the country, mystifying the crowds with her brilliant portrayal of "Harriet Stanley."

Our country is also in good shape, diplomatically, due to Millis graduates. Hair stylists Kathy Breen and Esty Nirenberg conscientiously curled the hair of Sheik Dickie Elwinger. Cheryl Anderson and Tom White, famous chefs to Queen of England Betsy Lee, got carried away with their work, ate all their creations, and served the Royal Family T.V. dinners. David Thorne and Paul Starkis, our delegates to the United Nations, so spellbound the assembly with their oratory, that we were asked to withdraw from the U.N. Speaking of orators, we are reminded of the breathtaking orators, school committeewomen Marilyn Cope and "Louise Day" Saunders. International social workers Carol Broussard and Bonnie Proe were sentenced to prison at Sing Sing after advising that the peace of the world could be saved by turning the world over to the teenagers. Warden Dave Thibault is hopeful that they can be rehabilitated. Our ambassador to Viet Nam, Bob Dmytryck, tried to plot a revolution to take over China and make Eddie Lewandowski the new president. Needless to say, the plot failed miserably when Norman Pembroke and Billy O'Donnell, radio operators, forgot to transmit the order to attack.

The next profession to consider is teaching, in which Millis graduates naturally excelled. At Millis High School alone there are now three French professors, the three Lindas, Pratt, Levy and Bigelow. Across the hall are Roger Smith and Don Dulevskis, brilliant mathematicians. In the teachers' room are Richard Braun, English teacher, and Terry Lyons and Mary Duhamel, history whizzes, who are trying to recover from an early morning study hall and are discussing Taffy Rothwell, famous Tuesday School teacher.

Now we turn to the military where Larry McCarter, Millis grad, made good as U.S. Navy Chief of Staff. He and Privates Bruce Joyce and Johnny Kaminski were caught in the biggest scandal in Navy history when they lost or misplaced the Sea View, the Navy's famous submarine. In trying to recover the submarine, super-secretaries Shirley Green, Judy Kuhlman, and Patti McGann sent letters all over the world. Meanwhile, ace psychiatrist Mady Weinstein and trapper Al Wilson were trying to communicate with dolphins, hoping that Flipper had seen the submarine.

During the past twenty years Millis alumni have excelled in many other professions. Foresters Greg Terrio and Teddy Taraski, given an assignment, took a wrong turn and cut down Sequoia National Park resulting in injuries to 150 persons. Nurses Margaret Clancy, Betty Foley, Judy Noyes, and Sue Desilets tried to aid the patients. Billy Pearson helped evacuate the injured on his motor scooter, and Valli Spafford rode her Shetland pony to the nearest police station for help. She landed, instead, at Diana Thorne's Granny Dress Shop. While there she witnessed a gorgeous new limousine, driven by Chauffeur Penny Preston, barely miss Jill Wildman who had tripped over an oil can in the middle of the street. The oil can flipped up and hit Alan Symans, gas station attendant, who was leaning over fixing a car.

Lastly we look at the field of science where physicists Alan Carruth and Joe Hersey had devised a harmless mushroom cloud which they released over Boston. This caused the people to go mad and bewildered the president into asking for a declaration of war. Bert Lannon, Secretary of War, locked himself in a refrigerator to escape the blast, and Billy Merrill and Herbie Godfrey, elevator operators, jumped from the elevator between floors. The only people not affected were eminent businessmen, Robby Lemieux and Joe Warsof, who were feeding the pigeons in Boston Common.

As one can readily see, the members of the Class of Nineteen Hundred and sixty-six have been guiding factors in the history of our nation and the world. Now as they leave for Planet-X, we wish them a fond farewell, and while we are reluctant to see them go, we know that Planet-X will reap the benefits of their outstanding genius.

What's the Company like anyway? Would I be proud to work there? Reputation for square dealing with employees? Pleasant surroundings?

Will I be working with others my own age? Are they friendly? Do they socialize after hours?

Will the boss be reasonable? Appreciate good, hard work, but won't explode if I make a mistake?

Will I make a decent week's pay? Have a chance for raises, advancement, more responsibility? How about fringe benefits?

Is the work challenging? I had what it takes to get through high school. Will they give me a chance to use my brains?

CLASS SONG

(Sung to the tune of "Yesterday")

*Yesterday, graduation seemed so far away;
 Long years we've waited for the day;
 It's been twelve years since Yesterday.
 Suddenly, these dark walls are not the same to me;
 Millis High is just a name to me;
 It's been twelve years since Yesterday.
 Once we were so young, and we clung to hopes and dreams;
 Now we must decide, can't confide in Yesterday.
 Here we stand, ready to accept what life demands.
 Now we have to make our own commands.
 We've been prepared since Yesterday.*
